What are some of your memorable moments with Milwaukee AHEC?

“Milwaukee AHEC has had an incredible impact on my life because it has allowed me to network with so many young professionals in the greater Milwaukee area. During my time with Milwaukee AHEC, I was able to explore and learn more about urban health and many of the health disparities that communities face throughout the region.

As a future public health professional, it will be my responsibility to advocate for health equity across the community by satisfying a variety of health education specialist responsibilities such as accessing capacity, program planning, and evaluating health education activities.

Public health and community health education is a dynamic field to be in and I can confidently say that I want to be part of the change for the best interest in population health and wellness.”
